BOAT POSTPONED

NEW YORK — Jack Britton, welterweight champion and Wave Shade of California, have postponed their scheduled bout from January 13 to February 17, because of injuries sustained by the title holder in training. Britton submitted yesterday to an examination in Madison Square Garden and physicians said he was suffering from a sprained ankle and an infected toe on his right foot.

COLONELS KNOCKED A CURVE IN GIRL'S LEAGUE

The Colonels have lost their winning strif and are now retreating from top place in the Girl's Bowling league at the Recreation alleys.

No. 13 proved the undoing of the Colonels. They won that many straight games and in their next match lost two out of three. Friday night they fell to their depths by being beaten three straights by the Lieutenants, who have been set for some time awaiting their chance to topple the league leaders.

HAS A FAIR ALIBI

Miss Esther Wagner, captain of the losers, blames the poor showing of her team to the inability of Miss Marie Glancy to bowl in the past two weeks. Miss Glancy has been entertaining visitors and could not participate in the last two games.

But the Colonels are determined to "come back" and say that when the bowling terminates they will be found at the head of the list.

No high scores were piled up by the Lieutenants, but they bowled consistently through the three games and not one of their number fell below the 100 mark, while five scores below the century figure were registered by the walloped Colonels.

Enthusiasm in Friday night's games surpassed any matches ever rolled at the K. of C. Alleys. The galleries were crowded with spectators and all available standing room was occupied.

WERE CONFIDENT

When the Lieutenants started off they were confident that they would beat the Colonels, who have recently been quite puffed up. As they won the first and started on the second their cheers could be heard throughout the building.

The Colonels were bewildered and the attack launched by their opponents knocked them a curve. Gloom settled over their section and as they stood grouped about each other, the shining Lieutenants Hammered away at the pins for all sorts of shrikes and spares.

It was a great victory for the Lieutenants, and well earned. The first game showed the Lieutenants score was 616 against 534 for the Colonels. In the second game the league leaders fell down to 473 while their opponents had a count of 584. During the last game the Colonels staged a little rally which failed and they lost 556 to 615.

THREE LIMA HI TEAMS WIN CAGE GAMES

SOUTH AND CENTRAL HAD TO BATTLE

Three Lima high school basketball teams won their games played Friday night.

Central nosed out Springfield 26 to 24, South beat Bluffton 23 to 19, while St. John's trimmed Waynesfield 40 to 9.

Paul Mitchell saved the game for Central. With only four minutes to play and the score 18 to 24 in favor of Springfield, he went wild and caged four field goals with such rapidity that the Clark-co boys were completely baffled.

The first half end and with Central on the short end of a 18 to 13 score.

Coach Ward Young's Southerners won by the same route. At the end of the first half the score stood 17 to 8 with Bluffton on the long end. A rally in the second period held Bluffton to one field goal while the locals piled up 15 points, giving them a count at the end of the game 23 to 19.

St. John's completely outclassed their opponents in all departments of the game. They played rings around the Waynesfield quintet from the first whistle.

Here's the line-ups and summaries: Central (26) Springfield (24) Mitchell. If Simmons Wetherill. If Cornwell Seely. If Bauer DeVoe. If Miller Hunter. If Barr

One-Armed Tennis Star

BALTIMORE, Md.—A one-armed tennis player, Clarence M. Charest of this city, is ranked second in the middle Atlantic section by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association.

Paired with William Sweeney, Charest won the middle Atlantic doubles championship last summer. Charest doesn't think he has as good a record as he has had great competition to overcome in the middle Atlantic section. Some classy tennis stars are turned out in Baltimore, Washington and the Virginia cities.

SELDOM USE TWO.

"However, what's an arm to a tennis player? They seldom use two, anyhow," says Charest.

The one arm behind you, or at your side, and you soon would get used to it and play on just the same. It might cause you to lose your balance at first, but later you would become accustomed to it.

Charest doesn't think he has accomplished anything remarkable. He doesn't feel he is in the least handicapped on the tennis courts, through the loss of his arm.

Charest has a peculiar cross-court stroke and plays close to the net. He is ranked as one of the stars of the east in this respect.

The loss of an arm is really an asset of the player in this particular, for he can swing his racket from a greater distance, the right arm being out of his way entirely on the stroke.

SPENCERVILLE WINS

Spencerville high school basketball team triumphed over Wapakoneta Friday in the Spencer armory by a score of 28 to 19. The Australize-co boys outweighted Spencerville, but the generalship of the Allen-co team enabled it to win.

Johnny Wilson Sentenced To Defend Title

NEW YORK—Johnny Wilson today stands sentenced to fight Harry Greb for the middleweight title or remain under the suspension ban of the New York state athletic commission.

Acceptance of the challenge laid down by the boxing powers was not forthcoming from Wilson, early today, but the commissioners stood pat.

An edict issued by the commission, brief in nature, but concise, also includes in its provisions, Martin Killian, manager of Wilson. The edict says:

THEY ARE SUSPENDED

Wilson and Killian are suspended until they fulfill the original contract with Madison Square Garden to box Harry Greb on a date to be mutually agreed upon.

Tex Rickard appeared before the commission late yesterday, in a futile attempt to have the edict modified so that Wilson might be permitted to substitute some other boxer for Greb, but the state powers stood firm.

WILCO TO STAY

COLUMBUS—Dr. J. W. Wilco, Ohio State's football monitor, has declined an offer to coach University of Minnesota's team next fall. It is said that Wilco has received several offers in other schools, but that all of them have been refused.

What is the one great weakness of major league baseball at the present time?

That is an easy one. Unquestionably it is pitching. The batters have the edge by a wide margin.

I have talked with a number of the great curve ball pitchers of the old days, and all of them say the throwing of a curve does not injure the arm if properly delivered.

All of which brings us to the question: What is the matter with the pitching? That is as easy of solution.

Lack of a good curve ball is the fault of seventy per cent of the present-day major league pitchers. It has become a lost art with some of them.

When these wild batting orgies are stopped, it will be curve ball pitching that turns the trick.

The era of freak pitching, plus the impression that a curve ball is hard on the arm, has had much to do with the passing of the curve from the repertoire of a great many pitchers.

I never saw a pitcher have a better curve than did Barnes in the big series. Douglas and Nehf were not far behind. The Yankees expect spitball pitching from Douglas, and were entirely upset when Douglas used a curve ball almost exclusively.

Fifteen years ago practically every major league pitcher boasted of a good curve ball. Today the curve of a great many pitchers does little more than twist. One good curve ball pitcher on a staff is about the average.

In the world series of 1931 the potency of the curve ball was apparent. Barnes, Douglas and Nehf of the Giants set down the Yankees without much trouble, and all because the trio used a curve ball to decided advantage.

It was the same on the side of the Yankees. Hoyt, who had such great success against the Giants, is one of the best curve ball pitchers in the American League. Carl Mays, in addition to his peculiar underhand delivery, also makes use of a curve.

The pitching stars of not so long ago, Christy Mathewson, Nordecal B. own, Chief Bender, Jack Coombs, George Mullen, Bill Donovan, Bill Dineen and any number of others, were curve ball pitchers. Go over the list of pitchers in the two major leagues today and you will find that about one in five is the possessor of a real curve.

JUNGLE JAZZ

A JUNGLE jazz band entertains visitors at the Selig Zoo, Los Angeles. The players are three chimpanzees.

They sit on chairs. Mike strumming the guitar, Bill picking at the mandolin with his head cocked to one side. Mary, handling the violin, is the band leader. They hold their instruments naturally, with the skill of humans.

There's much debate, whether the discord shattered out by the monkeys is really jazz. Some music critics, opposed to jazz, insist that it sounds like the real thing.

Consul, most intelligent monkey of our generation, used to dress himself, even to lacing shoes and tying a four-in-hand. He ate with a knife and fork, shaved himself, steered an auto and even signed his name with a pen. But Consul, like the monkey jazz players, was entirely an imitator.

First a man has to do a thing, with the monkey watching. Then the monkey copies.

Man, of all creatures, alone has the power of reasoning, making decisions, originating. All men have this power. Few develop it.

People are of two kinds—the creators and the imitators or followers.

It is human nature to go along doing a thing in the old accepted way.

Occasionally a person with a creative brain challenges the old way. He starts in motion that greatest machine, the human brain. Presently he creates a new invention, a new theory or a short-cut way for the old laborious process.

Such men are more valuable to civilization than millions of imitators contented with going ahead in the old rut. For instance, Edison, Watt, Whitney and Steinmetz.

Study the careers of these and other creative geniuses and it becomes obvious that the real contributor to progress is the person who discards the old and devises something new and better to take its place.

All people have, within them, the power to create new and better things. The trouble is, it is more comfortable to go ahead in the old way.

The brain can make a success of any one if it is spurred on by the great driving force, will power, instead of allowed to grow rusty and stagnant.

The current is in every head, waiting to be turned on to higher voltage.

WEALTH

THOMAS BALDWIN, 94-year-old Long Island hermit, is found dead in his shack. He died in rags, though he had 25 good suits hanging about the walls.

Thomas probably got great satisfaction, contemplating the 25 suits and knowing that he would never want for good clothes.

If he had read Poor Richard's Almanac, by Ben Franklin, he'd have seen this: "Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it."

Misers usually forget that money is only a means to an end.

AS YOU LIKE IT

Our new dollar was designed by a foreigner. Foreigners always did have designs on our dollars.

Most weather beaten men in Lima is the weather man.

"Girls are no longer shy," complains a woman. They're shy on clothes.

There is an unusually large crop of early spring predictions.

Lots of birds think they are wise as owls because they are always hooting at something.

The movies have insured Will Hays for $2,000,000. Must intend to push him over a cliff.

Financial writer says unsettled incidents expected next month. By "incidents" he must mean bills.

Reformers are objecting to dancing without lights. Called on account of darkness.

Full many a germ of vilest intent scheme is trying its best to make us look and lean.

So to the office and sat awhile. Thence for a stroll to the outskirts and saw playing several youngsters, some pretty little lassies and they

TIME FOR MARRIAGE

TWENTY-FOUR is the ideal age for a woman to marry, says Professor Ralph L. Powers, of the University of California. That will start a lot of arguments, opinion probably dividing 50-50.

Powers says, give a girl five years in business and she will make a better home maker, wife and mother. Less chance for argument there.

Business training makes a woman more economical and a better manager. It gives her the power of independence. Best of all, it improves on instinct in making her a better judge of men, most of whom need a lot of judging.

COMING

THE plan for the St. Lawrence canal, which would make ocean ports of Great Lakes cities, is submitted to Congress.

The cost would be $315,000,000, which seems a lot, tho it would vanish like snow on a hot stove in a few days of modern war.

In another century, America will have a network of such canals, linked up with thousands of giant dams.

Our greatest natural resource is water, running back to the sea, seeking its own level. That power will not forever be allowed to go to waste.

FORCEPS

A DENTIST can yank out a patient's teeth without consulting the patient, "in the exercise of his professional duties," rules the Wisconsin state supreme court. The joke-smiths may grind something out of this, about keeping on the side of the man with the pull.

Many persons might be in better health if the dentist used his forceps on their teeth. Much stomach and nerve trouble, rheumatism and more serious maladies are due to abscesses at the roots of the teeth.

To save your teeth and guard your health, have the dentist inspect your teeth often.

KILLED

ONE person was killed every 35 minutes in auto accidents during 1921. The total for the year "probably was as high as 15,000." This is the estimate by the national safety council.

Considerable toll for carelessness, which is just another word for recklessness!

For practically every auto accident is preventable.

Paste that on your windshield, if inclined to take chances.

PIONEER

THE telegraph wires from Rochester, N. Y., bring news of the passing of George Baldwin Selden, 77 years old, "inventor of the first gasoline-propelled vehicle."

In 1873 Selden quit trying to make a horseless carriage with steam as motive power. Friends joshed him. For three more years, defying jibes, he worked on an auto engine designed to explode a mixture of "laughing gas" and kerosene. Finally, in 1878, he drove out of his workshop in a gasoline car. Laughs stopped.

What place should Selden have in history? Clear a few acres, to make room.

What Are Your Dollars Worth?

Consider what it costs you to get them and not simply what they will buy. The price of the money you earn is the sum of your time, energy and ability.

Here is a good plan to follow: Spend it wisely—and do not spend it all. There is a permanent satisfaction in having some money saved, that you cannot have if you spend it all as you go. It takes thought but it's worth it.

Self-confidence and incentive to forge ahead grow as your savings increase.

It takes time to accumulate savings to a point you wish to reach, but it's worth the effort and time and patience you put into it.

LITTLE FEET WIN

AS RUM HOUND
Secrets of Champion Dry
Agent Revealed
HAS NOSE FOR BOOZE, TOO
Izzy Einstein Says He Doesn't
Drink Either

(BY EDWARD M. THIERRY)
NEW YORK—How do you do it? I asked Izzy Einstein.

Thus began the first authorized interview with Uncle Sam's champion rum hound.

"I don't like that—I'm no rum
hound," protested Izzy, "I'm a prohibition agent."

"All right, then. To what do you attribute your success as a bootleg hunter?"

"Three reasons," said Izzy. "First,
I don't drink. Second, I haven't got big feet. Third, I've got a nose for booze."

"What! You don't drink?"
"Certainly not. You don't know much if you think prohibition agents, drinks. None of us do. We wouldn't."

"Where do you make most of your arrests?"

"It varies in tough joints one day,
and the next wearing evening clothes
in swell cafes."

"Do you really believe in prohibition?"

"Certainly," said Izzy, seriously.
"Most agents do."

Now, in ending this unusual interview, it is impossible to follow custom by describing the person interviewed. I can only describe him partly, such as to say he has two eyes that see most things, keen nose, lips that rarely touch liquor—and his feet aren't big.

You'd never discover Izzy, or any other hootch hunter. They don't look at all the way I thought hootch hunters looked.

And they certainly have the edge
on the public—they can tell bad hootch from good hootch by smelling it.

FARM AGENT SELECTION
IS DEFERRED FOR WEEK
Allen-co will not have a farm agent for another week.

The board of directors of the farm bureau deferred action in selecting an agent until next Saturday morning at 10 a. m. following a meeting attended by four applicants Friday afternoon. T. G. Vickery, teacher of agriculture in the Bluffton schools, appears as a strong contender. L.
D. Blosser, of Goshen, Ind., was another man present.

The farm bureau is keeping names of applicants secret, pending the final selection.

A. E. Anderson, of Columbus, assistant state county agent leader, is aiding the bureau in finding a man suitable for the place.

TWO TAKEN TO TOLEDO
ON FEDERAL CHARGE
Two Lima men, G. L. Morningstar and Harry Root, both of Sugar-st., will await the action of the Federal jury in Toledo on a charge of violating the interstate shipment law by stealing pig iron from a shipment in Lima.

Art J. Christy, deputy U. S. Marshall, took them to Toledo Friday
after they were arraigned before U.
Commissioner H. D. Grindle and pleaded not guilty. Bond of $1,000 in each case could not be given.

The affidavit charges them with stealing 7,320 pounds of the iron from a shipment consigned from the Ford Motor Co., Detroit, to the Malleable Foundry Co., Muncie, Ind.
